STREET-LIGHTING BY ELECTRICITY. THE COST WOULD COMPARE WITH THAT OF

"If the franchise for the general use of the streets ranted by the Aldermen is passed over the Mayor's sto, what plans will you adopt for lighting the rects?" asked a TRIBUNE reporter of A. A. Hayes, secretary of the Brush Electric Illuminating rated by the Aldermen is passes over the streets? sets will you adopt for lighting the streets? sets as ill you adopt for lighting the streets? of the Brush Electric Illuminating Company.

"The company has made two bids for street-lighting for the year beginning May 1, 1881," said Mr. Hayes. "The larger bid includes White-hall-st. from the Battery to Bowling Green to Forty-fifth-st. Fourteenth and Twenty-third-sts. from Third to Eighth-aves. Thirty-fourth to Forty-second-sts. from Third-ave. to Broadway und Fifth and Eighth-aves. form Fourteenth to Forty-fifth-sts. and Madison and Union-squares. It is estimated that this will displace more than 1,700 gas jets, and our terms are $32,000. The smaller bid is for lighting as section shaped like a figure of eight. This includes Broadway and Fifth-ave. from Fourtheenth to Thirty-fourth-sts. Fourteenth-st. from Fourthave. to Fifth-ave. Thirty-fourth-st. from Fourthave. Here it is estimated that about 555 gas jets will be displaced, and our terms are $7,400. The smaller bid is at a much cheaper rate than the larger proportion of space by our elevated lights, such as are used at Akron, Ohio, and are to be used in Cleveland. The poles are intended to be placed in Union-square at the junction of the lines of Broadway and Fifteenth or Sixteenth-sts. and in Madison-square at the junction of the lines of Broadway and Fifteenth or Sixteenth-sts. and in Madison-square at the power, light a square mile satisfactorily. We propose to put six lights, each of 4,000 candle power, light a square mile satisfactorily. We propose to propose to gase.

"The company knows exactly what their light will cost," replied Mr. Hayes. "This light has been used in the streets of Cleveland nore than belances the triangular 'carriage' carrying the six lights. TRAINING GIRLS FOR USEFUL LIVES.

Wilson Mission at Eighth-st, and Avenue-A, cele-brated its twenty-ninth anniversary yesterday with more than usual interest, as a class of six hittle girls received diplomas for having attained, for their age, a satisfactory standard in their studies, in sewing and kitchen-garden. Addresses were made by the Rev. E. M. Donald, the Rev. Dr. Booth, the Rev. T. J. May and others.

J. May and others.

This pioneer industrial school seems to be the source of original methods of instruction particularly helpful to girls. It is well known that the kitchen-garden originated here, and now the subject of sewing, which is interesting the public so widely, has been remarkably developed. The teacher in charge of this department, Miss L. J. Kirkwood, has just issued an illustrated sewing primer, lessons from which and some of the delightful little songs were used on this occasion. The religious needs of the poor in the vicinity are met by regular thurch services, Sunday-school and prayer-meetings; 3,500 visits are reported to have been made during the past year by the missionary.

The Wilson School is not endowed, as its name might lead one to suppose, and it depends entirely on annual subscriptions and voluntary gifts. It is frequently in need of money to carry on its excellent work.

NO. 27 AGAIN PICKED OUT. The session of the Whittaker trial yesterday was seempled by the testimony of ex-Governor Chamberlain's experts. In the course of his cross-examination Mr. Cochran retracted his opinion that the note of warning was written by an enemy of Whittaker, since on that supposition it would have been in Cadet Whittaker's power to show the note to the officers, and so capture the perpetrators of the outrage. Papers were submitted to Mr. Cochran to test his character as an expert. George Stimpson, an expert in handwriting, was the next witness. He testified that, having examined the Government standards and the note of warning, he had concluded that the writer known as No. 27 was the author of the note of warning. Mr. Stimpson's examination will go on to-day.

CAR DRIVERS DISSATISFIED. STRIKE ON THE HARLEM DIVISION OF THE THIRD

STRIKE ON THE HARLEM DIVISION OF THE THIRD AVENUE LINE.

The movement among street car drivers for higher wages and a reduction in the number of working hours, assumed definite shape on the Harlem division of the Third Avenue Line yesterday morning. About 10 o'clock one of the drivers, after making a round trip, left his car and refused to work unless promised an increase of pay. The other drivers were urged to keep their cars moving, but they held back and said that they would not go on until some one took the car out that had been abandoned. A force of extra men was sent up from the company's headquarters at Sixty-lifth-st, to lill the places of the disaffected drivers. The exact number of regular drivers who finally refused to resume their places until their demands were acceded to could not be ascertained. The superintendent at the Harlem depot said that all the men had returned to their posts except two; at the company's headquarters at Sixty-lifth-st, it was said that the number was from six to eight; the drivers themselves claimed that there were lifty or more of them in all. Apprebensions were felt by the railroad officers that the strikers would use violence arainst the extra men by whom their places had been supplied, and consequently a request was made for a detachment of police. Inspector bilks hurried to the scene and several platoons of officers were detached from the Twelfth. Twenty-third and Twenty-eighth Precincts. One of the drivers named John Whelan used threatening language and was arrested and fined $10. As a precautionary measure a policeman was put on each car with instructions to "keep his eye open for something." The demands made by the dissatisfied drivers were that they should take about twelve hours to foun, or $2.50 for a dav's work of five trips. The force of extra drivers belonging to the uptown division, about twenty in number, took sides with the strikers.

An intelligent driver, who has a wife and two children dependent upon h in for support, said that he had been paying $10 a

PROMOTING MILITARY INTERESTS.

The Military Service Institution of the United States, which was organized September 28, 1878, and of which General Hancock is president, now has a membership of 608. The War Department has authorized the use of rooms on Governor's Island for its library and museum, and a valuable collection of military books, relies, etc., has been made. The Institution affords convenient opportunity for the interchange of views on military matters among officers, and is similar to the Royal Service Institution of England. It has published the fifth number of its "Journal of Transactions," containing papers, etc., read before the Institution, a catalogue of the museum, and a complete account of its origin and progress. The current number of the "Journal" contains an article by General Schoheld on "Tae Legitimate in War," a paper on the Siege of Flevna, by Lieuteuant T. M. Bliss, and contributions by General Fry, Captain Clark, Captain Hobbs, and others.

AFRAID OF LOSING THEIR TRADE.

About forty manufacturers of knitted goods doing business in different parts of the country met at the Astor House yesterlay to take action in regard to the circular recently issued by the Tressury Department, which in effect removes the duty on knitted woollen goods, and which, it is claimed, threatens to cause a scrious loss to American manufacturers. A permanent organization was effected by the choice of the following officers: President, James Talcott; vice-presidents, Thomas Dolan, George C. Bosson, Charles Spencer, Thomas Hall, James C. Cooley, and Johnson Letson; treasurer, J. N. Carpenter; Executive Committee, G. C. Bosson, Titus Sheard, Walter Aiken, Augustus F. Libby, Charles A., Bussill, C. Button, J. N. Carpenter, S. Conde, E. M. Townsend, A. B. Valentine, John Warner, A. P. Olymdan, H. S. Rankin and E. J. Chaffee, The name of "The National Knitting Goods Association" was adopted. The Executive Committee will meet to day at 10 o'clock at No. 45 Worth-st. AFRAID OF LOSING THEIR TRADE.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE METROPOLITAN.

The dining-hall of the Metropolitan Hotel was reopened yesterlay. It was burned out three months ago, but is now more sumptuous and handsome than before. The prevailing style is Queen Anne. The elaborate woodwork is wholly of mahogany, ane the flooring is composed of oak and walnut arranged in tiles with borders. The dimensions of the room are 110 by 65, with a height of 65 feet. At each end are three large windows filled with stained glass and containg figures representing "Fish, Flesh, Fowl and Wine." The chandeliers are very costly and brilliant, and the walls and ceiling are decorated with artistic elegance. Altogether it is by far the finest hotel dining-room in the country, and it has cost $80,000.

EXTENDING TELEGRAPH WIRES. EXTENDING TELEGRAPH WIRES.

A meeting of the directors of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company was held in the Equitable Building yesterday, and it was voted to make the capital stock $10,000,000. The line from Boston, by way of Providence, New-Haven and New-York, was finished yesterday. This line has six wires, and the poles have a capacity for thirty wires. It was also decided to extend the line from Boston to Worcester, Springfield, Albany, Rochester, Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus and Pittsburg. It is estimated that the points mentioned control about nine-tenths of the telegraph business of the country. HOME NEWS.
